EDITORIAL FLINGS

Who was that practical joker who invented that device on an automobile which throws muddy water into a pedestrian's face to amuse the bystanders when the car is passing?

If paint is as effective a preservative as some advertisements say it is, the present crop of flappers in Paris ought to reach a well-preserved old age. Some of the flappers seen on the streets of Paris look like animated comic supplements.

When a man's head looks as if he had received successful treatment for the removal of superfluous hair, and his feet describe arabesques on a waxed floor in response to a jazz band nobody tries him for lunacy, and the debutantes try to be patient and polite.

History says the first Kentucky newspaper was established when the town of Lexington "offered to give John Bradford a lot." If he would establish a newspaper, in the history of Kentucky journalism many newspapers have been established without their proprietors getting a lot out of the venture.

A certain good church member in Paris is responsible for this one told the pilot of this column the other day:

"One of my neighbors gave her five-year-old daughter a teddy bear, on which the eyes had been sewed on crookedly, making the bear look cross-eyed. The next Sunday when she came home from Sunday school she was heard to call her bear 'Gladly.' 'What a queer name! Where did you get it?' her mother asked. 'Why, in Sunday School this morning,' the tot said, 'we sang a song that said: 'Gladly A Cross I'd Bear.'"

In starting for a country tour with hopes of getting back it's very well to be quite sure you still possess "the jack."

Those Lexingtonians who claim title to "the heart of New York" are in the same boat with those Paris people who claim to own "the heart of Philadelphia." They aren't merely seeking the bluebird away from home, but actually chasing the wild goose afoot, for "there ain't no heart."

Various new words came into our daily use during the war, and those which proved their worth remain. Some of them were French and some not, but the survivors are good English to-day. With attempts at settlement and reconstruction came others of a colder and more severely practical type. "Moratorium" was such an one, "amortization" is another. They had been in the background all the time. Now they belong in the daily speech understood by all.

There's a grand old Kentucky word that occasionally finds its way into the newspapers. "Chirivari"—pronounced with gusto, as "shivaree"—is an institution of torture dear to the hearts of the "boys" of the small town. We had thought that people had advanced beyond the age where they could get satisfaction out of this refinement of cruelty, and our sympathy goes out to that bridegroom who met the celebrants with a shotgun.

A Paris man called THE NEWS office the other day and asked for a member of the staff. He was informed that the gentleman in question was not in the office. "Hold the line a minute," he requested. From previous experience with this particular species of telephone nuisance we anticipated the final outcome of the interruption, but there was a chance, a bare chance, that for the absent man this line was held. The minute elapsed, then the voice spoke up again, "Never mind," it said. But we do mind, and so does everybody else who is made a convenience for the saving of some other fellow's time in this thoughtless way.

If the Senate gets many more members like Tom Watson they'll have to appoint a matchmaker and install a prize ring.

SLAUGHTER OF THE INNOCENTS

(Elizabethdown News)

The season for killing doves in Kentucky is near at hand and soon the hunters will be afield engaged in the slaughter of the innocents. We believe that the dove should be protected from the hunter like other song birds. It is true that the dove is not much of a songster, but his soft, mournful note is not unpleasant and it seems to typify the bird.

Of all the bird family the dove represents the gentlest. It was the dove which brought back to Noah in the ark the olive branch signifying that the flood was abating. At the baptizing at the Jordan, when the Son of Man suffered himself to be baptized of John, the Spirit of God in the form of a dove descended and lighted upon His head with the voice saying, "This is my beloved Son in whom I am well pleased." The dove has been the emblem of peace in all history and nothing more perfectly represents it.

The dove is the farmers' friend and not his enemy. He destroys more insects that prey upon the crops than he does grain and in our opinion he should be protected from the hunters. Killing doves is nothing less than the murder of the innocents.

WOMEN'S WOES

Paris Women Are Finding Relief at Last

It does seem that women have more than a fair share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity; they must "keep up," must attend to duties in spite of constantly aching backs, or headaches, dizzy spells, bearing-down pains; they must stoop over, when to stoop means torture. They must walk and bend and work with racking pains and many aches from kidney ills. Keeping the kidneys well has spared thousands of women much misery. Read of a remedy for kidneys only that is endorsed by people you know.

Mrs. J. R. Moore, 133 East Eighth Street, Paris, says: "I was in bad shape with my kidneys. My back nearly killed me with pain. There was a steady, dull ache just over my kidneys and I was weak and miserable. I often had to let my housework go undone and I got so dizzy, black specks came before my eyes. My feet and ankles swelled. I doctored for a time, but got no relief until I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. My health was greatly improved in a short time and two boxes cured me. It is a pleasure for me to recommend Doan's."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Moore had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Hail Insurance Rates Reduced on Tobacco

With the recent reductions of hail storm insurance rates on growing tobacco, in the face of the enormous losses to growers within the last four or five years, every grower can afford to protect himself to the limit and, with safety, go into the business of producing a crop that requires so much money, time and labor, as does tobacco, that should be insured against loss by hail storms.

Now that so many growers have gone into an organization for a more economical, business-like way of handling their crops, and the insurance companies have so lowered rates on hail insurance, there is no reason in the world for any grower to neglect the protection of his crop by ample insurance.

Better see your insurance agent right away and have him protect your crop, which is likely to be destroyed any day by a hail storm. Policies become effective noon, July 10th.

The Old Carriage Maker Had an Important Truth

"To make each part as strong as the rest," was his way of "building a wonderful, one-horse chaise that wouldn't wear out till judgment day."

This illustrates a fact that is keeping many doctors busy these days—human bodies, like chaises, break down because some part isn't as strong as the others.

Very often it's because of ill-balanced food, lacking in some important element of nutrition. This is especially true of ills developed in childhood, and carried on through life.

Grape-Nuts, that world-famous, ready-to-eat cereal, brings the plan of building each part as strong as the rest—to serve human need. Grape-Nuts contains all the nutriment of those best of the field grains, wheat and barley, including the vital mineral elements, and it is a wonderful food for building and sustaining health and strength.

The delicious flavor and crispness of Grape-Nuts make it a welcome dish whenever you're hungry.
